

Out On a Limb

Something is strange here, and I don't know quite how I feel. There's blue sky above me, the world far below looks unreal. I'm taking a chance here and there's something you ought to know.

I'm out on a limb now and I think I'm gonna let go.

The moment I met you I thought we were fated to be, but now I must know, dear, if you feel the same about me. I'm taking a chance here, and there's something you ought to know. I'm out on a limb here, and the wind is starting to blow.

Feels like flying, feels like floating on the air,
Just to think that there's a chance that you might care. Feels like flying, feels like walking on a cloud, just to dream that you might say it out loud.

So don't be afraid now to tell me what's inside your head,
I love you is one phrase that isn't better left unsaid,
Just open your heart, girl, and let all your warm feelings show,
Go out on a limb, dear, and don't be afraid to let go.